Grain to Apples

Onetime grain miller, white-haired Senator Hugh Alfred Butler of Nebraska, Republican National Committeeman, has cut across party lines to team up with apple-growing Senator Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democratic National Committeeman, to save the taxpayers money.

The Byrd-Butler bill proposes to do this through giving Congress authority to find out what has been and is happening to the hundreds of millions of dollars tossed around by the hundreds of Government corporations, such as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, U. S. Housing Authority and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

The picture of a sound and healthy elder statesman, Nebraska's Hugh Butler is rising to national stature in his cooperation with Virginia's Byrd to cut down reckless expenditures of the tax-paying public's hard-earned coin.

Both Valley Men

Sen. Butler created a stir in 1943 with his charges that the New Deal had boondoggled $6 billion in Latin America to win over unreceptive good neighbors. He later conducted a tax survey of business to expand employment.

Sen. Butler was born in Missouri Valley, Iowa, 67 years ago. Grains from Nebraska's fertile plains became his business, and he was a successful miller before entering the Senate in 1941. He knows the value of a dollar, and Sen. Byrd's long fight against Government waste made sense to him.

Sen. Byrd is a valley man himself—educated in the apple country's Shenandoah Valley Academy. Started work at 15 on the Winchester (Va.) Star and wound up publishing it—also The Harrisonburg (Va.) News-Record. Publishing a couple of small newspapers is a good way of learning that money wasn't made to be wasted.

War, Veteran Rehabilitation To Cost 344 Billion By July, 1946, Budget Bureau Chief Announces

Educational, Readjustment Vet Allowance Four Billion

Need for Huge Sale of Victory Bonds between October 29th and December 8th Seen—Greater Stress Put on Holding Bonds Now Owned—Cessation of Hostilities Does Not Eliminate Essential Spending—Financing Cost of War and Veteran Rehabilitation to Continue Many Years.

Fighting has ceased but the war won't be over for those who have to pay its costs and care for the wounded, seeing to their rehabilitation, the Budget Bureau has announced via a pile of staggering figures.

War costs and veteran aid will total $344,000,000,000 by next summer, the bureau estimates. Educational costs for returning veterans and their readjustment will take $4,000,000,000 the bureau has announced. On top of this the yearly cost to provide adequate veteran aids will total in the vicinity of $4,000,000,000 each year for 10 years, it was said. There will be a gradual decline each year.

Victory Bond Money Essential

Continued need for huge Bond sales and the holding of those now owned until maturity was seen with the release of the figures. More than ever it was said. "To have and to hold" applies to Victory Loan and War Bonds. More than ever it is necessary to give all-out support to the Victory Loan officials said.

The Budget Bureau estimates that "war costs—actual and prospective—will amount to $340,000,000,000 by next June 30, and the public debt will approximate $273,000,000,000, as compared to the statutory limit of $300,000,000,000" for the fiscal year of 1946. Add the veteran cost to the war cost and the estimated total is $344,000,000,000.

Mr. Smith said that recasting the figures that went to Congress in the annual Presidential budget message in January show that the original estimate of $70,000,000,000 for the war this year alone has been reduced to $50,500,000,000 due to the war's end.

Demobilization Comes High

When this year ends there will remain unobligated authorizations of nearly $10,000,000,000, and unliquidated obligations of nearly $60,000,000,000 approximately. "Even with victory some of these authorizations will be needed for meeting expenses incident to the liquidation of the war effort.

"Not only war," Mr. Smith reminded, "but also demobilization of the war machine is costly." Thus it is seen the holding of Victory and War Bonds by their owners and the sale of more Victory Bonds becomes the first duty of the home front in its fight to maintain a stable economy and to defeat destructive inflation, it was pointed out.

Because of the educational and readjustment program allowances for veterans, it is estimated the cost there will be about $4,000,000,000 in the demobilization and immediate postwar period. This allotment is for retraining of returning veterans who have been wounded and unable to earn their living at their old trade; the replacement of legs and arms and of living costs while in training or during hospitalization.

The Veterans Administration will administer the rehabilitation training and give financial assistance to the men.

Training and other rehabilitation afforded will go to the men who left homes and loved ones and sailed for distant battle fronts to fight to establish peace and harmony among nations

Another Type Of War Must Go On

For many years the safety records of the local Cone Mills were good. In fact, one of the mills, Revolution, won three of the first four safety trophies awarded by the North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers Association for the best safety record among large mills in the State.

During the past few years the safety records haven't been so good. It has been a source of concern to note the increase in accidents and the accompanying pain and losses which have resulted therefrom.

Yes, it is true that during the war conditions have not been normal. The pace has been a little faster. New and inexperienced employees haven't helped the safety situation. Supervisors, who play an important part in accident prevention, have been forced to devote so much of their time night and day to urgent production problems that they had too little time left to push safety in their departments. In other words, accidents have increased in most industries during the war, but what concerns us most is why our safety records have deteriorated so much comparatively. If the local mills had continued to have stood at the forefront among cotton mills in accident prevention, we would not be so concerned.

The war is now over; that is to say, the war against national enemies is over. Our war against accidents is not over. It cannot be over so long as a single individual suffers an accident.

It is hoped that a new, an inspired safety campaign can soon be started in the local mills. Let's again take the leadership in preventing accidents.

The war against accidents must go on.

Employment Office

Last Friday night members of the employment and personnel department really stuffed themselves at Mr. Bowles' spaghetti supper. The spaghetti, a la Jack Dempsey, was surrounded with all the trimmings—perfect from "soup to nuts," fuguratively speaking, with accent on the "nuts," all of which were well-cracked.

It will be such a relief when Wallace Bourne, connoisseur (of what?), buys a new Ford. Maybe his course of conversation will then change.

It is now obvious why the T. Wards do not attend P.T.A. meetings. They might be confronted with the remark that pupils are not invited. No one would ever believe that those two men are their sons.

Funny, but we never seem to get anything "on" Aileen and Lois. Must be wonderful to lead such a life!

Millie Hoskins has begun to wear that old familar smile again. Reason: Her man will arrive Wednesday night in civilian (sillyvilain) clothes.

Grace McDowell is just like the weather. Last week she was singing "Danny Boy" and this week its "My Johnny lies over the ocean." Next week it'll probably be "All Alone and Lonely".

The girls in the Finishing Department surely wish Ed Jones would tree that squirrel that he gives the appearance of hunting in that dept. All he does is spend half his time down there gazing at the ceiling. Suggestion: If you can't complete plans for cloth shutes, Ed, why not rent an old beat-up B-29 and let it drop the cloth down through the syklights at 10-2 and 4?

We are just really glad to learn Mattie Sykes has finally received her "don't write me anymore, I'm on my way home" letter. Three cheers.

Showing-off department: J. Phillips cruising through the metropolitan towns of Siler City, Asheboro, Sophia, Ramseur and High Point. Siler City proved to be interesting, didn't it?

In the Purchasing Department we live breathlessly expecting someone to come through the walls at any time. Joe Walters' office really did the suffering this week end. His office was "no-mo" this morning, but if that means a larger lounge, we girls will endure the noise.

Birth of a New Building: The old Sub-Station has really undergone a renovation during the last few weeks. Watch for christening date.

The following is an exaggerated version of "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" as we would imagine a person under the influence of intoxicating beverages would stagger through:

"Starkle, Starkle, little twink
How the heck you are, you think?
I'm not under the affluence of incohol
As some thinkle pepe I are
But I fool so feelish,
The drunker I sit here the longer I get."

Inseparables: Mr. Goodwin and his cigar. Woody Carruthers and his green pencil.

More interest seems to be aroused concerning our bowling team. If we keep on trying we may succeed in winning a game between now and next year. We're proud of the effort though. You know where there's a beam there's a team.

Office romance still going strong.

Woody Inman has been walking to work lately for his health, but he can't resist walking through John Scott's front lawn.

Funny sight: Wallace Branson burning leaves in the road 11 o'clock at night. What is this, a topsy-turvy world?

FLASH! Ruth and ediphone doing find. Dan McConnell deserves some of the credit due to his mastery of the engineering language.

Gee, wish we could all pick winners like Mr. G. Picking three winners in one day surly is very lucrative. Let us in on this accomplished foresight, o.k.?

Nuckles is getting to be somewhere when Ruth M., Blanche M. and Jackie P. drive in and order sweet milk. Just bottle babes, there's no 'dout aboot it'.

Ed Chambers, how do you accomplish any work with that loud necktie literally blinding you with its brightness?

Pantbea Huffines' sailor surly likes green. When he grows tired of a green Dodge, what does he do but trade in for a Green convertible Mercury. Classy lass, wouldn't you say. Hint to Pan: When these contact lenses are perfected you may even order green eyes, but for the time being I guess he'll have to be satisfied with clear blue. Tch, tch, it's rough!

Missing Bureau: We deeply mourn the parting from our office Mrs. Lucille Burgiss, who is establishing a runway between Mr. Harold Smith and Mr. Bernard Cone.

Monday Morning Memos
Why the gloom
In the Sample Room?

Seems the boys lost last week end. Cheer up, you guys, into each life some rain must fall!

"Panky" and Laura are recuperating from a couple of cases of shattered nerves, brought on by those sound effects the carpenters were producing in the office last Saturday morning.

Here's a belated Happy Birthday wish for Laura, our Siren of the Switchboard. A bit delayed, but none the less sincere.

All those Saturday morning huddles were just to mourn Greensboro's loss to High Point. Wonder what we'll do on Saturday mornings when we no longer have Friday night games to discuss?

If you're wondering why Ed Madden does sentry duty at the front door on Saturday mornings, here's why. Seems he has to stop the egg man before he gets upstairs or else those guys get all th ebig eggs and Ed doesn't have any choice.

Mr. Morgan just can't trust the old reliable quote "Lightning never strikes twice in the same place". He's just replaced the tire that was "lifted" from his car in front of the office a few weeks ago with a new one equipped with lock, key, and burglar alarm.

Gene Neiers' cotton crop, located just outside the office door, is reported to be doing fine this season. When you going to pick it, Gene, or are you waiting for one of those new mechanical pickers?

Ask Mable what she had on her mind the other day when she got on the bus and said to the driver, "Outside, please."

Correct Time: If you're thinking it's long about lunch time and you look out the window and see Mr. Fluharty waiting for a bus, you may be sure it's 11:45. He's more accurate than any timepiece we know.

Have you seen Jackie Phillips' pinup of Van Johnson in the Purchasing Department? Jackie could be seen any night last week drolling over that man Van on the front row at the Carolina.

Now that the new building is completed and we can no longer watch its progress, wonder what the folks on the south side of our office are gonna' do for entertainment? By the way, who really had charge of that construction job, Woody Inman, Wallace Branson, or Fred Newnam?

Mary Andrews' nomination for the meanest man in town goes to Mr. Lee for always snatching her parking places from right under her nose.

Our vote for Number One on the "Wit Parade" goes to Dan McConnell for those humorous little stores he never runs out of.

THIS 'N THAT

Why Don't They: Install a towel rack by the upstairs water fountain to go along with those nice cold showers it so freely distributes?

Latest DDT Daffinition: That shaky uncertain feeling that accompanies hangovers is no longer known as D.T.'s, but D.D.T.'s.

Revolution Office
(Downstairs)

The one and only Jack Hughes invaded this office last Saturday morning, the same old Jack in spite of having won a war. He hopes to be out of the navy by December and to take up his work here. He is on furlough taking a trip with his wife. Jack's ship was the first to fire on Iwo Jima.

It's good to see the Murray, Livengood, Blake team hustling so every Tuesday morning to hand out the checks.

Who would have believed that the Textorian could operate right in the middle of the main office? Due to rennovations of its own office it has been doing just that for several weeks now. Many apologies from the paper's "mother" for the seemingly untily appearance of the desk, but a newspaper desk is never as neat as a bookkeeping or account one, what with paste, scissors, scraps of paper, piles of mats and material that combine to greet your eye now or in the future.

Skinner's wife is certainly tops in the culinary art if that sweet bite he so generously shared the other day is any sample. It had dates in it, the first in a long time for some people.

Pay Roll Office

We hope Mrs. Ruby Haynes will soon bring to the office a huge bunch of those beautiful chrysanthemums that she and her husband are growing out at their farm "Carlee."

Does anyone know if Mrs. F. J. Blackwood copied her hairdo from Ginger Rogers in one of her pictures recently shown in our fair city? We all like it, Marie.

Dotty Moss surely did appear letdown Monday morning when "Beaty" Jones failed to present her with a birthday gift. We think the reason for her neglecting Dot until afternoon was due to the fact that she spent the week end in her home town, Spray, and we think some of her gentlemen admirers distracted her.

Ruth Butler is having a birthday next week-end. Any addition to her "hope" chest will be appreciated.

Revolution Office
(Upstairs)

Wonder why all the girls here blush so when spoken to by members of the opposite sex.

Wonder where "T" gets all those "cute" little jokes and folders that he sports from time to time.

Mighty cute baby Merlin Beaver has! She was "borrowed" the other day for a short while by Vent's wife, and the borrower actually hated to return her!

Don't bite your nails too much, Vera. You can still have one date a week when your friend goes on night work.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Proximity Girls Winners In Bowling

Proximity Office girls' bowling team won two games out of three last Wednesday night when they met Anderson grocery team at Greensboro Recreational center bowling alleys. The third game was lost by only one pin.

Members of the team which plays every Wednesday night are: Miss Minnie Wood, Mrs. Ruth Roberts, Miss Ollie Fallin, Miss Blanche Murchison and Miss Helen Wrenn.

Helen Burnside Becomes Bride W. H. Thornberry

Miss Helen Elizabeth Burnside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Burnside, 2402 Hubbard street, was married to William Henry Thornberry, storekeeper 3c just back after 21 months' overseas duty with the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Thornberry, Greensboro, route 2, Tuesday, October 30, at Carraway Memorial Methodist church. Rev. G. W. Clay, pastor, conducted the double ring ceremony which had music by Mrs. Beauford Lane, pianist, and Mrs. Edna Loman Bryson. An informal reception followed at the bride's home.

At the home Mrs. O. E. Pickard and Mrs. Carson Rhew, sister of the bride, assisted with the reception. The couple had a short wedding trip and the bride is now with her parents. The bridegroom, who was with Proximity Manufacturing company before going to the navy in May, 1942, left Monday for Norfolk, Va., where he will be stationed for a time. The bride is a 1944 graduate of Rankin high school and is employed by Burlington Mills corporation, hosiery division.

It Is Good Business For US

Bill Jones and his wife are buying furniture to furnish their home. One day they went to an auction sale where a chair they wanted was to be sold. Jones made a reasonable bid on the chair but someone else wanted it too and raised his bid. Jones made a higher offer but several others also wanted the chair and the price continued to go up. It was finally sold for about three times the original bid.

Now Jones, who knew a little bit about furniture, was a thoughtful fellow. He realized that if there had been more chairs, each of those who wanted one could have had it at a reasonable price. So he spoke to the others who had wanted the chair and they all want to see a furniture man who agreed to make them what they wanted for a fair price. He promised delivery in four weeks.

Now many people are bidding against each other and making prices rise today just as prices go up in an auction. Most people who stay on their jobs are earning more (Southern textile workers' average earnings increased 84% from September 1939 to June 1945—from $.363 to $.671 per hour. See Textile Bulletin for October 15, 1945) and often feel that they must buy now even though they know prices are too high.

It is good business to buy bonds now and buy luxuries later. Your bonds will increase in value and those luxuries will cost less and be much better in quality. There are a lot of good things in your future if you prepare for them, but buying inferior products at today's auction prices won't get them for you.

It IS patriotic and it IS good sound business:

—to work all you can and earn all you can.

—to buy a share in your Government by buying bonds.

East White Oak "Y" Has Busy Week

East White Oak Y.M.C.A. activities are numerous with Sunday evening vesper services, organization of the Tri-Hi-Y club and observance of prayer week.

Vesper services held at East White Oak Y.M.C.A. every first and fourth Sundays are being well attended.

David D. Morehead, Boys' Work secretary of the Hayes Taylor Y. M. C. A. was guest speaker at the Sunday afternoon vesper service, Nov. 4, sponsored by Hi-Y club. Morehead brought out the fact that there are only four colored Y.M.C.A.s in the state of North Carolina, and East White Oak branch, the only known Industrial "Y" that services so small a community, ranks considerably high among other Y.M.C.A.s. He stated further that the birth of the East White Oak branch served as a stimulus, indirectly if not directly, in paving the way for the birth of Hayes Taylor "Y". He made clear many interesting points as to how the "Y" related itself to the community, and urged his listeners to co-operate with the branch secretary in making use of the "Y".

Hi-Y Club of East White Y.M.C.A. that sponsored the successfully carried out program of games and fun on Thursday night, Nov. 8 is now seeking the co-operation of its recently organized sister club, the Tri-Hi-Y, in formulating plans for joint activities that it hopes to bring about in the near future.

In the meantime, all the clubs and social groups of the Y.M.C.A., and the East White Oak community in general, are pledged to join in with all the Y.M.C.A. associations of the world in observing Nov. 11-17 as "Prayer Week". All clubs and groups as well as individuals, agree that the theme, "Let Us Rise up and Build", is appropriate.

"Regardless of the plans the youth groups are making toward hilarious events of the future, the more sober and sacred spirit that the "Prayer Week" calls for will not be over-looked, and nothing less spiritual than prayer, singing, Bible discussion and speaking, is anticipated by any of the "Y" affiliated groups until the "Week of Prayer" closes," declared officials.

Textile Group Meets Sat. At White Oak "Y"

Fall meeting of the Northern North Carolina-Virginia division of the Southern Textile association will be held tomorrow beginning at 9:45 a.m. at White Oak Y.M.C.A. building.

Dr. John A. Redheard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will discuss "Human Relaitons Confronting the Textile Industry." Other speakers include G. H. Dunlap, of State college, Raleigh, who will speak on textile research, and Carl Brandt, of Whitin Machine works, will cover textile machinery developments. Smith Crow, chairman, will preside over the meeting.

Election of divisional officers will follow discussion.

President Truman Takes Part In Victory Loan Movie

Washington, D. C.—President Truman will appear in a special Victory Loan motion picture, "Peace Comes to America," according to a War Finance Division Treasury Department. Featured with the President will be Secretary of the Treasury, Fred M. Vinson, and National War Finance Director Ted R. Gamble.

Produced by the Motion Picture and Special Events Section of the War Finance Division, "Peace Comes to America," written and directed by Lt. Lothar Wolfe, U. S. C. G., and Lt. Howard Barnes, U. S. N. R., headlines a group of 16 mm. films to be shown exclusively free of admission at bond rallies and programs during the drive, beginning October 29.

Fourteen short features have been made for the Treasury by the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and Army Air Forces. These film have been ticketed for Victory Loan—16 mm. showings. J. Edward Shugrue, Director of Motion Pictures and Special Events for the War Finance Division, said that these have been selected as outstanding, historical documents, many depicting hitherto undisclosed details of the war's final phases. Others he stated, constitute pictorial records of the highly important work being done in the hospitals and rehabilitation centers, details of radar and other scientific developments in the Army and Navy research laboratories, and studies of the unprecedented situations faced by our occupation forces.

Shugrue estimated that 50,000,000 people throughout the country would see these films during the Victory Loan. Mobile units are being organized to tour the farm and rural areas, and screenings will be held in schools, stores and churches in every section of every state. Cooperation by the U. S. Office of Education and the Department of Agriculture in securing the use of additional 16 mm. sound projectors should make it possible to achieve a substantial increase in showings over the 7th War Loan, during which audiences totalled 33,500,000, he concluded.

Much against his will, the young suitor had been persuaded to go through the formality of stating his intentions to his prospective father-in-law.

"So you want to become my son-in-law, do you," the old man remarked.

"Frankly, no," returned the suitor, "but I see no way out of it if I want to marry your daughter."

A woman who had lost her husband had to go through so much red tape in order to collect her insurance, that she enclosed a note with a list of questions she had to answer and said:

"I have gone through so much and answered so many foolish question for your insurance company, that I almost wish my husband had not died."

She (shyly): "Would you care to tell me why?"

He: "I'm broke."

War, Veteran Rehabilitation To Cost 344 Billion

in the years to come. These are the survivors of Bataan, Corrigedor, France Germany, Africa, Italy. Those who did not survive will not need the assistance of a responsive and never-failing homefront. How responsive the homefront is will be demonstrated through the sale of more and bigger Victory Bonds, officials said.

Added to the above costs interest on the public debt is something to make one set up and blink. It will take "more than $5,000,000,000 yearly," Mr. Smith said and, he added, "tax refunds will remain high until about a year after the Pacific war and will decline drastically thereafter."

Mr. Smith warned that "a drop of $39,000,000,000 in revenue this year is in prospect." Corporations will pay about "$3,100,000,000 less in direct taxes and individuals—due in part to the loss of war wages—about $3,200,000,000 less," he added. This is a loss of $6,300,000,000 in these two departments alone, Mr. Smith's figures show. It is about half of the quota of the Victory Loan. The total revenue loss is almost three times that of the mighty 7th quota.

Thus, it was agreed, the Victory Loan is as vital a need as were any of its predecessors.
